Find the best coffee, roast it with care & share generously

Brew Coffee Plus is a small batch specialty coffee roastery based in Streatham, South London. By selectively sourcing the best green coffees to work with, roasting in small batches and going the extra mile in service and training, we aim to bring high quality coffee to a wider audience without compromising on quality.

Sustainable & ethical sourcing

We work with quality focused importers who are able to deliver on finding unique coffees to share time and time again. Typically the traders we buy from pay 30-150% more than the cost of production to producers, far above the commodity and fair-trade prices. We always strive for meaningful and long-term relationships, keeping integrity at the core of what we do.

Roasted in small batches

To enable us to keep the quality of what we offer high, we roast in 5kg batches - helping to increase heat transfer efficiency and properly develop our coffees to their true potential. We also regularly sample green coffee samples on our digital micro-roaster and cup every single production roast that we create on our Diedrich IR-12 to help increase consistency.

Fresher for longer

The freshness of coffee begins at farm level. In order to help create the best possible experiences, we will only ever buy coffees that are currently in season and have recently been harvested. Moreover to help prevent against oxidation and loss of flavour we aim to ship all batches the day after they have been roasted.

A transparent approach

Through openness and honesty, we aim to be a crucial link between farmer, importer and barista. By inviting people to our roastery, involving people in our approach and educating our audience through various channels about how to get the best out of their brew, we can help start to raise awareness for better coffee.

Full service and support

Coffee is complex. But it doesn't have to be. With every wholesale relationship we offer full support such as espresso and filter brew guides, training at our roastery plus fast and reliable responses to any queries. With nearly twenty years previous experience working on the bar side, we understand the intricacies of finding the perfect brew.
